

CAMPUS EATERIES & ITHACA RESTAURANT LISTINGS

The following is a list of some good restaurants in Ithaca you may want to consider visiting on your “free evening”. This list is by no means exhaustive, just some of our favorites, arranged in random order (area code is 607). Also included is a link to the various eateries throughout campus for lunches.

Restaurants Near Campus (Collegetown)

The Collegetown neighborhood is about a 15 minute walk from Malott Hall. The restaurants cater to students and are generally moderate in price. All campus dining locations are closed weekends except for Willard Straight Hall, Manndibles (open Saturday for lunch), Cornell Statler Hotel/ Taverna Banfi (Open Saturdays). We suggest Collegetown for lunch as an alternative to these open locations on the weekends. As you cross the bridge to Collegetown from campus, you are on College Avenue. Dryden Road is the first light; many restaurants are on the first block to the right (downhill). Eddy Street is one block down Dryden Road. Stewart Avenue is another block down and is probably the best reached by this route. Collegetown also has some small grocery stores if you need food or miscellaneous items. Here is a list of some places worth trying particularly for lunch. We welcome your personal feedback.

For a list of on-campus eateries, go to <http://living.sas.cornell.edu/dine/wheretoeat/>. The closest to Malott Hall:

Big Red Barn (closed summer 2014 for construction)

Goldies Café located in the Physical Science Building

Martha’s Café located in Martha Van Rensselaer

Rusty’s coffee shop in Uris Hall

Synampus Café in Weill Hall
