

MATH 1300: Mathematical Explorations

Math 1300 is for students who wish to experience how mathematical ideas naturally evolve. The course emphasizes ideas and imagination rather than techniques and calculations. We will spend a lot of class time discussing and playing with mathematical ideas and exploring the strange places they can take us. Some of the assignments will involve "traditional" mathematics, while others will explore mathematics in more unusual and unexpected ways.

Contact information:

Inna Zakharevich

- Email: iiz5@cornell.edu
- Office: Malott 587
- Office hours: Wednesdays 12:30-2:30

TA: Lindsay Mercer

- Email: lm729@cornell.edu
- Office: Rhodes 657 (on the left, just after conference rooms)
- Office hours: Thursdays 2-4 pm, Rhodes 657, Conference Room 2

Grading

Your final grade will be determined as follows:

- 40%: Participation: attendance, participation in discussion, weekly journals.
- 20%: Final presentations
- 40%: Homework