

Moodle guide for Math 1110 students

August 26, 2009

Please note that we are using an installation of Moodle in the Mathematics Department:

<http://moodle.math.cornell.edu/>

and not one provided by CIT.

1 If you enrolled in Math 1110 on peoplesoft before August 26, 2009

If you enrolled in Math 1110 on peoplesoft before August 26, 2009, then a moodle account has already been created for you, and you have been enrolled for the course in moodle. You may log in at

<http://moodle.math.cornell.edu/>

Your NetID and password are your username and password. You will then see a link to the course webpage.

2 If you enrolled in Math 1110 on peoplesoft after August 26, 2009

If you enrolled in Math 1110 on peoplesoft after August 26, 2009, then you must create a moodle account and enroll in the course in moodle. Detailed instructions are below.

2.1 Create a math moodle account

To create a moodle account, go to

<http://moodle.math.cornell.edu/>.

Depending on your browser, you may immediately be prompted to log in with your Cornell NetID. If so, please do so, and then a math moodle account will automatically be created.

Otherwise, follow the link for "USE YOUR CORNELL NetID" to log in. Enter your NetID and password. You now have a math moodle account.

2.2 Enroll in Math 1110 in moodle

To enroll in the course in moodle, log in at

<http://moodle.math.cornell.edu/>

and log in using your NetID and password. You will now see a list of courses. Click on "Math1110: Calculus I." This will take you to the course webpage on moodle, where you can click "Enroll me for this course".

You will be asked for an enrollment key. If you are in course section X (ask your instructor which section you are in, in case you don't know), then your enrollment key is 1110_FA09_X for Math 1110. Please note that the section number consists of two digits: 01, 02, through 17. So if you are in Section 3, your enrollment key is 1110_FA09_03. You will now be taken to the course webpage.

2.3 Log in

From now on, you can log in at

`http://moodle.math.cornell.edu/`

using your netid and password. You will then see a link to the course webpage.

3 Switching sections after having enrolled in moodle

If you switch sections after having enrolled in moodle, please send an e-mail to `kej27@cornell.edu`, and the course administrators will change your section in moodle. Please begin the subject line with "math1110 switch section:", and include from which section you come, and to which section you are switching.
